

APPLICATION TO TRANSITION INTO THE DOCTORAL PROGRAM

In addition to this form, a complete application includes:

- Statement of purpose (3 to 5 double-spaced pages). The statement should describe and justify the dissertation project and indicate how, where, and when it will be pursued. It should also describe the present state of your preparation to undertake this project and what further preparation you require before beginning the research. The applicant should write this document thoughtfully and with care, since it will reveal whether the applicant is suitable to the doctoral program.
- Current curriculum vitae
- Current transcript
- Three "Reports on Graduate Applicant" (http://gradschool.uoregon.edu/forms/gs_620.pdf) one of which must be written by the committee chair, who should describe the applicant's readiness to enter the doctoral program. The other two referees may be briefer in their remarks.
- E-mail proof that you have requested letters from three referees.

Name: _____

Master's degree / date: _____

Master's paper title: _____

Master's advisor's name: _____

Second reader of the master's paper _____

Doctoral advisor (if differs from master's advisor): _____

Topic of dissertation research (tentative title):

Planned comprehensive examination topics:

(Note that cultural anthropology students are required to take a comprehensive examination in social theory and that archaeology students are required to take a comprehensive examination in archaeological method and theory.)

1) _____

2) _____

(READ ON)

Members of the comprehensive examination/dissertation prospectus committee:

_____ (Chair, printed)

_____ (Chair signature)

_____ (Member, printed)

_____ (Member signature)

_____ (Member, printed)

_____ (Member signature)