

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Instructors/Researchers Labor Education and Research Center

Posting: #050801

Closes: May 31, 2009

The Labor Education & Research Center is looking for highly qualified instructors and researchers with direct experience in labor education to fill faculty sabbaticals, unanticipated short-term vacancies and meet grant-related duties. Research needs include projects regarding issues of work, employment, and occupational safety & health. Assignments are temporary, not to exceed one year, and may be part-time or full-time. Successful applicants for the labor education pool will have direct experience in labor education and must meet the following qualifications:

Bachelors degree or equivalent professional experience in appropriate field such as law, economics, industrial labor relations, occupational safety and health or history. Demonstrated high quality experience in labor education or research. Excellent instructional skills; working knowledge of current labor issues; portfolio of curricula or program materials. Candidates for research positions and publications must demonstrate skill in research; knowledge of methodologies; and prior experience in publishing research findings. The successful candidate will have the ability to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from a variety of diverse backgrounds.

Please see <http://jobs.uoregon.edu> for additional information. Applications will be accepted on a continuous basis and reviewed as positions become available. Pool will remain active through May 31, 2009.

An equal opportunity, affirmative action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act