

Research Grant

The Association of Oregon Archaeologists annually awards a research grant of up to $500 for proposals that advance our knowledge of Oregon archaeology through technical analyses, education, and interpretation.

Past AOA Research Grant topics include radiocarbon dating (marine shell; weir stakes; bison bone), macrobotanical and starch/pollen analysis, obsidian sourcing and hydration studies, and blood residue analysis.

Qualifications and Requirements

Grant recipients need not be members of the Association nor residents of Oregon, but their proposals must have a focus on Oregon archaeology. Applicants must have a minimum of a master's degree in anthropology or related field, or have a sponsor with these qualifications who is an active participant or advisor in the project.

Grant recipients are required to present their research at an AOA meeting, and are encouraged to publish in the Association's Occasional Papers series or in CAHO, the Association's newsletter.

The research grant application deadline is February 1. The recipient will be notified prior to the Northwest Anthropological Conference, where the award will be presented at the banquet.
