You are required to submit a written response – 2 pages maximum, double spaced, 1 inch margins.

Your paper should be carefully written, spell checked and edited. Please hand in a polished, concise paper. The response should address the following:

What is to be learned from school gardens? Is Alice Waters just an idealist .. or realist? Is there any merit to Flanagan's argument?

How can better design of schoolyards accomplish the goals of outdoor / environmental education? Did you experience outdoor education in K-12 school? At your schoolyard?

We are going to spend a fair amount of time journaling. What is to be gained by journaling, as described by Walker / Roth? Have you journaled before – written or graphic?

What is your personal reaction to these readings?
