SPECIAL MEETING OF THE FACULTY.

The following members were absent: Professors Bates, DeBusk, DeCon, Douglass, Gregory, Hayward, Lawrence, Leader, McAlister, Parsons, Prescott, Schroff, Stafford, Straub, Thorstenberg, Tingle.

FRESHMAN DISCIPLINE COMMITTEE The report of the Committee on Discipline was presented by Dean Morton in the absence of Dean Straub on the matter of "mill-racing" of certain freshmen by members of the "Freshman Discipline Committee". Committee reported that the "Freshman Discipline Committee had been urged to acts which constitute hazing by student sentiment particularly by sophomores and upperclassmen; that the committee had conferred with the Student Council on the general proposition of the elimination of "Mill-racing", and the Council has voluntarily drawn up and presented the following resolution:

"The student council recognizes that an offense has been committed by the freshman discipline committee against the existing faculty ruling in regard to mill-racing. We wish to call attention, however, to the fact that although the old practice of mill-racing as hazing measure has been dying out, general sentiment on the part of the students has resulted in the encouragement of mill racing among the freshmen as a disciplinary measure and that the entire student body is more or less responsible rather than the freshmen implicated at this time.

THEREFORE, the student council feels that it is just that leniency be shown toward the men in question.

FURTHERMORE, as a result of a very fair discussion in joint meeting with faculty disciplinary committee we have arrived at a knowledge of serious possibilities likely to result from the practice and therefore, wish to offer the President and the faculty our fullest support in their effort to abolish mill-racing."

In view of these circumstances and in order to get the most effective, constructive results the committee recommended that the students involved be placed on probation for the remainder of the college year. Dr. Howard moved that the report be accepted. It was seconded by Professor E. W. Allen. The motion carried placing the following students on probation until the end of the present college year:

Raymond Lawrence
Johnnie Watson, Jr.
William S. Bolger
Richard Sunderland
Ray Mooers
P. C. Cummings
Russell J. Patterson
Herman Timmer
Francis Beller

Moved to take the question of the CUT SYSTEM from the table. Car-rried. The Committee on Revision of the Cut System submitted the following report and moved the adoption thereof:

1. The present cut system be and is hereby repealed.
2. Instructors shall report students to the Registrar for excessive absences.
3. Reports for excessive absences shall have the same effect as reports for poor scholarship, namely; the student shall be posted.
4. A student posted in two or more subjects for either poor scholarship or excessive absences or the two combined shall be placed on probation.
5. No absences shall be excused.

NOTE: The definition of "excessive absences" rests with each instructor. The instructor of a given class shall be the exclusive judge of that constitutes excessive absences therefrom to the same extent that he is now the exclusive judge of what constitutes poor scholarship therein.

When a student is reported by an instructor for either absent-ces or poor scholarship, notice thereof shall be sent the student directing him to report immediately to the Dean of Men (or in the case of women to the Dean of Women). Notice shall also be posted to the Dean and to the Head of the student's living organization.

Failure of the student to report to the Dean within the time specified on his notice subjects him to being called before the Privation Committee which may impose any requirement deemed desirable; such as placing the student on probation, or in an extreme case of indifference to scholarship or attendance, dropping him from the University.

No absences shall be excused. A student who fails to attend class suffers a loss. The degree of loss is in no way affected by the cause of the absence. A student who is absent on account of illness, for example, is deserving of the advantages to be derived from probation, which are, principally, (1) freedom from the tax of extra-curriculum activities, and (2) the additional assistance of the Deans and the committee in aiding him to overcome the loss he has suffered through his unavoidable absences.

If a student is absent from class, no excuse he may offer will relieve him from responsibility for the work he has missed, which responsibility may involve his making up the work lost or suffering a reduction in grade, as the nature of the course may determine.

The Deans and the committee will take into consideration the causes of absences in dealing with individual cases and there shall, of course, be no element of penalty where the student is absent for causes beyond his control. He will, however, be held responsible for the work of the course, and his post and probation shall be for the purpose only of aiding him to fulfill this responsibility.

Carried.

with the Committee of the Student Council to consider the matter
